INSPECTING THREE THEATRES. THE BIJOU, DALY'S AND MINER'S VISITED BY OFFI CERS OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CERS OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Chief Gicquel, of the Fire Department, examined the Bijou Theatre, in Broadway, near Twentymnth-st., yesterday afternoon during the matinee performance. Owing to the smallness of the theatre the chief desired to see how the scenery was handled and how much care was taken to protect the scenery from the lights. The theatre was entered by the stage door, which is in Sixth-ave, under an oyster place. A long passageway leads to the cellar of the house, which is fitted up as dressing rooms. The cellar was formerly used as a bowling alley. The part under the auditorium s divided into a number of small rooms for the players, and under the stage is a vacantspace. Chief Gicquel asked the manager, John A. McCaull, if he thought that the props which held up the stage were sufficient to sustain a very great weight. Mr. McCaull said that there was never a very great weight on the stage, and be thought that the beams were amply sufficient for the purpose. The timbers supporting the stage, the manager said, ran from wall to wall, and were propped up in many places between the walls by posts. The same was true of the floor of the auditorium.

When the stage was examined it was found to be cient for the purpose. The timbers supporting the stage, the manager said, ran from wall to wall, and were propped up in many places between the walls by posts. The same was true of the floor of the auditorium.

When the stage was examined it was found to be one of the smallest in the city, and every inch of ground has to be used to advantage. There are no rigging lofts, as the ton of the theatre is directly under the roof of the builting. The rigging is done on the right-hand side of the stage, where a number of ropes at a used to adjust the curtains and scenery. The prosecurum frame is twenty feet high and twenty-four feet wide, and on each side of it is a space about five feet in width. Above the stage is a covered well-hole, 15 feet by 12 feet, which can be opened by ropes on each side of the stage. The manager explained that if a side of the stage. The manager explained which fire could be opened and the flaues would be carried away from the auditorium by the draft. There are two similar openings in the ceiting of the auditorium which fire could be contucted to the auditorium, a there is in most theatres. Chief Giequel watched closely the scene shifters after the curtain fell on the first act. They appeared to work cauriously around the lights and received no reproof from the chief. On the stage are several fire-extinguishers, axes and hooks to be used in case of an emergency. There are really no workshops connected with the theatre, as there is no room for them. When the carpenter has any work to do he does it on the stage, and the same is true of the painters.

The arrangement for dismissing the people r

the theatre could easily be emptied in a few minutes.

A cursory examination of Daly's Theatre was made yesterday by Chief Grequel. He did not spend much time in the building because he made a thorough inspection of the place a year ago, when he recommended many alterations and improvements. These changes have not been made and the chief considers that his report of a year ago still holds good. Objection is made to the building itself because it is an old structure. The chief thinks that Mr. Daly has done all in his power to arrange the building property. In the matter of exits the theatre is admirably arranged and in case of fire the building could be emitted in a very short time. There is much storage of inflammable material in the building, as is the case in hearly all the other theatres in the city. Over the proscenium arch there is no brick wall to divide the stage from the partment in all the theatres.

brick wall over the proseculum arch is an opening to conduct smoke and flames (if any should occur) to two ventulators in the root of the auditorium. Chief Millier thought that an iron door should be placed in the opening in the brick wall so that it could be closed if necessary. There is one rigging loft which is also used as the paint shop. Twelve pails of water are kept full all the time in this loft and there are also two extinguishers and a fire hook and axe ready for use at any time. There is an exit of the stage to the adjoining yard. Under the stage are the boiler and engine-room and a store-room for old chairs. Under the anditorium are the dressing rooms. A few suggestions about protecting the gas burners from the woodwork were made by the chief.

UKGING SMALLER APPROPRIATIONS.

UKGING SMALLER APPROPRIATIONS.

Little was done yesterday by the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the consideration of the final estimates. Robert H. Shannon, a resident of the annexed district, addressed the Board. He expressed his approbation of Controller Campbell's views on educational appropriations. He opposed the College of the City of New-York on the ground that it was not needed. Of the 600 or 700 pupils sent there every year, only 25 or 30 were graduated. He saw no reas-in why such large sums were paid to teacher. Considering the amount of work done, he considered that the teachers were too well paid. He opposed the appointment of stenographers for the Police Courts. He ends of justice would be better served if one-half the courts were abolished. The amount appropriated for the annexed district was really greater than was necessary. The trouole was, he said, that in the work of improvement more money is spent in paying overseers who do nothing than in paying the men who perform the labor.

NEARER LAND THAN HE THOUGHT.

NEARER LAND THAN HE THOUGHT.
Captain Clees of the wrecked barkentine David Babcock, with several scamen arrived in port yesterday from the coast of Brazil. The vessel was wrecked on the coast of the island of San Joao. The captain said that owing to his chronometer being out of order he was led to believe that the ship was several hundred miles from land, when in fact she was close to the island. About 3 o'clock in the morning the vessel ran on the beach and by daylight had pounded itself to pieces. All on board got into a life-boat and succeeded in reaching the shore in safety. As the island was uninhabited the wrecked crew was taken by a passing bark to a town on the main land. The David Babcock was principally owned by F. R. Colcord, of this city and was valued at $20,000; the cargo was miscellaneous, and estimated to be $50,000 in value. There was $5,000 insurance on the vessel.

MORMONISM AT MANHASSET.

Samuel Smith and his wife, both colored, of Manhasset, have been married ten years, and are the parents of six children. Mrs. Smith has been an invalid for the last six months, and has been so ill at times that she was not expected to live. She had a dread of leaving her children lest they would not be properly cared for after her death; and so she destreit hat her younger sister and her husband should be married before her death. They entered into a mutual agreement that in case Mrs. Smith should die they would become man and wife. This did not satisfy the sick woman, and to pacify her they were married. Since the marriage Mrs. Smith No. I has so far recovered as to be able to leave her bed and she bids fair to live for some time. Smith and his two wives are now living happily under the same roof. J. HOWARD WELLS BAILED.

J. Howard Wells, who was arrested some weeks ago for attempting to blackmail Jay Gould and against whoin the Grand Jury has ordered an indictment to be prepared, was yesterday admitted to bail by Judge Donohue in $1.500. On the representation of Civil Justice Monell, a brother-in-law of the accused man. District-Attorney Rollins consented that the bail should be reduced from $10,000 to $1.500. This was done because the offence for which an indictment has been ordered, sending threatening lettics, is junishable only by a fine of $500, or one year's imprisonment, or both. Wells was taken from the Tombs to the District-Attorney's office late in the afternoon. He showed considerable nervousness and declined to talk. General Charles Roome, of No. 29 West Fifty-second-st., president of the Manhattan Gas Company, became his bonds-man.

THE NATIONAL GUARD AND THE ARMY.

THE NATIONAL GUARD AND THE ARMY.

A general meeting of the Military Service Institution was held yesterday afternoon at Governor's Island. General Hancock presided and there was an unusually large attendance. General Hancock called the meeting to order at 2:30 o'clock and introduced Brevet Brigadier-General T. F. Rodenbough, U. S. A., who read an essay on "Militia Reform Without Legislation." General Roden ough began his address thus:

"It will doubtless be admitted that one of the most important military interests, which it is the purpose of this institution to premote, is the militia. It is also generally understood that the laws under which the present force is raised and maintained are imperfect or impracticable, and that before a good system can be established State legislatures, with the aid of Congress, must agree upon a new and uniform statute; something that will fuse the elements of our military strength—the crude and the refined—into a formidable body of trained soldiers, representing a maximum of efficiency with a minimum of expense, and in which the boundless resources of the general government may be utilized without encroaching in the least upon the prerogation of any State under the Constitution."

Speaking of the increase in interest in military affairs General Rodenbough said that it had doubtless sprung from several causes: The disturbances of 1877; recent discussions on our sea coast defences; and the practical tendencies of the age, and particularly the close scrutiny to which public expenditures are now subjected. "The principal reasons," he continued, "for the existence of militia in this country may be briefly stated, in the order of their importance, as follows".

Pirst. The protection of the State at the call of the civil authorities.

Second. The defence of the Nation at the call of the existence of the call of the civil authorities.

the civil authorities.

Second. The defence of the Nation at the call of the President of the United States.

Third. The physical improvement and recreation of the citizen under his Constitutional right to bear arms. Such a force should be mainly composed of well disciplined riftemen, a few field and machine guns being distributed among the better regiments for purposes of instruction and use in an emergency.

General Rodenbough referred to his recent tours of inspection through the States; and he gave a brief sketch of the regulations, discipline and effect-iveness of the militia of Germany. In concluding or inspects of the regulations, discipline and effectiveness of the militia of Germany. In concluding he said:

"It has frequently been asserted that the mainstay of a Republic in time of war, must be its volunteer soldiers. The value of this element consists in its preparation for an emergency and its natural instractor and military exempl r is the regular army. From the army must be drawn the sergeant-instructors, the tactical manuals, the enstems of service, the camp and garrison information, which are indispensable to excellence in a lighting force. The time for this co-operation has come, and carnest work is n less important with the professional than with the amateur soldier; neither can afford to stand still, and while the one must keep pace with the rapid sirides of military sciences, the other must make up for lost time by taking up the no less important but simpler problems of military art—the training and handling of troops. As we have seen, legislation is needed, but, before the signature of the Executive is likely to be in the natural course of evenis) appended to a new law, the commanding officers of the militar have it in their power to strengthen their organizations so that they will be ready to reap the substantial benefits of the statute when it comes, and then have but little remaining to complete the construction of the best National Guard the world ever saw."

A general discussion on the subject of the essay followed. The meeting concluded with a discussion in which several toek part, on a paper entitled "A Military Court of Appeals," written by Brevet Major-General J. B. Fry, U. S. A. and printed in The Journal of the Military Service Institution.

The request of the Board of Health will probably be met with the same objection. A resolution offered by Commissioner Smith was adopted, requesting the City Physician to attend one day in each week, at the different police stations, to vaccinate all who may come. The committee to call upon the Board of Finance consists of Commissioner Van Riper, Health Inspector Benjamia and Drs. Lochner, Mackey and Van Sam.

Three new cases of smallpox were reported yesterday, one cach at No. 17 Gardener-av., No. 236 Newark-ave, and No. 148 First-st., all new localities. Sixty cases in all have been reported since the beginning of the present month, about one-half of which has proved fatal. A great many cases are never r-ported unless they prove fatal, the physicians attending feating lest their other practice would be injured if it became known that they were attending smailpox patients. There is a fine requiring physicians to report all such cases, with a heavy penalty for its violation; but the penalty has never yet been emforced. County Physician Converse and Health Inspector Benjamio have been doing all they could unaited to stamp out the disease, and they have accomplished a great deal by disinfecting houses and vaccinating all the people living in the neighborheod of a case. There is no power lodged in anyone to remove a patient to the hespital against his will or the wishes of his friends, to isolate a patient or to vaccinate anyone. The Health Inspector was authorized yesterday to procure 200 signs, to be placed on houses in which the disease exists, and to employ a man to bern the clothing and bedding of patients, after their death or recovery. The Board of Works will meet to morrow, and will be urged to make an effort to give the streets a thorough cleaning.

VILLAGERS ALARMED BY GHOSTS.

VILLAGERS ALARMED BY GHOSTS.

Alleged ghosts are again exetting the people of Rossville, S. I. For several nights a white object is said to have been seen gliding about the place, and showers of stones full on Detective Charles F. Relings's house almost nightly. Mr. Relings has made every effort to solve the mystery, but without success. He at first supposed that the stones were thrown by some malicious persons, and night after night, with some of his neighbors, all armed with pistois, he watched, but could not discover any one in the neighborhood, although a shower of stones came at regular intervals. Mr. Relings says that if it is nearely a practical joke it is being carried too far, as it is injuring his interests in a pecuniary way. Constable Hannah, who, with his family, occupied the apper part of Mr. Rellings's house, has moved out Hannah and his family were so much annoyed by the stones falling on the roof that they could not sieep. On one occasion tootsteps were heard as of a person ascending the stairs, followed by heavy knoess on the door. Hannah, with pistol in hand, went noiselessly to the door and opened it suddenly; but no one was there. Since Hannah vacated them the rooms have remained unoccupied. Mr. Rellings has offered a liberal reward to any person solving the mystery. This has induced many young men in the village to take an interest in the matter, and, armed with pistois and shotguns, they scour the neighborhood nightly in search of the stone-throwers. The white object cliding about is said to have been seen in St. Luke's graveyard, in Sand Lane, near Krescherville, and in the woods near the basket factory of John D. Winant. Twenty-five years ago this same object, it is said, was seen in different parts of the town, and caused similar excetement. The women of Rossville have become terrified, and cannot be induced to go out alone at night.

STEAMSHIPS IN HEAVY SEAS.

STEAMSHIPS IN HEAVY SEAS.

The steamship Maas, which left Rotterdam November 26, arrived yesterday, seven days overdue. Until December 5 there was fair weather, but on that day heavy gales were encountered which were followed in the evening by a hurricane which swept great waves over the ship. Some sails were form and others carried away. The sea e-nitimed to run high until December 16. Rough weather was also met by the steamship Scythia of the Cunard Line, which reached her pier yesterday. The vessel left Queenstown December 4, and on the second day out a strong gale was encountered which lasted two a strong gale was encountered which lasted two hours. One of the lifeboats was carried away by the waves, which beat against the sides of the yessel. The side of the wheel-house was also broken by electricity and by chemicals, and explained the addition of luminous material to the non-luminous gas thus formed. He showed with the screen and lantern the different processes fer making gas as used in this city and in Baltimore, explaining the advantages claimed for each. Pictures were thrown upon the screen showing the interior of the Pairs coal gas works in 1840, containing fitteen retorts, and of a modern one with 600 records. Mr. Sloane also illustrated the "charging" and "drawing" of the retorts by machinery. He said that of the 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas manufactured in this city annually, nearly ene-half was water gas. Water gas had been successful in America because of the cheapness of anthractic coal and naphtha.

The Rev. H. B. Hitchings, one of the clergymen of old Trinity parish, recently resigned his position and sent a very long communication to the vestry, gibving his reasons for doing so. This was not made public at the time, but a copy of it was sent to The Teibung office last evening. The Rev. Mr. Hitchings says that he was engaged in 1873 as "an assistant minister of Trinity parish to be assigned to do duty under the direction of the rector." Mr. Hitchings apparently believed that he was to receive orders solely from Dr. Dix, and was second only to him. He did not think it necessary to make out a written contract in the matter, although he was advised to do so.

For seven years the Rev. Mr. Hitchings worked on orders from Dr. Dix only, and had reason to think he did his work well. In 1880 some time the situation began to change, and Dr. Dix told him that he duttes could not be arranged "without conference with he Rev. Mr. Dongiass," soother elergyman in Trinity parish. Mr. Hitchings was pained and amazed. It seems that with the censent of the vestry, Mr. Donglass had been placed next to the rector and over Mr. Hitchings, and the communication intimates that this was done to keep Mr. Donglass from accepting a call to another parish. Mr. Hitching's believes that Mr. Donglass was not called to the exact position that it was asserted to be, and he intimates that some one made false representations. Mr. Hitchings recalls the fact that he also has had good offers. However, Mr. Donglass was in charge and now Mr. Hitchings had orders which he did not like. This is what he says:

On November 10, 1880, daties of a certain limited character were assigned me at Trinity Church, but under such restrictions as clearly conflicted with my rights, and which mode it humiliating, and I sometimes tells,

Mr. Hitchings's resignation was accepted.

THE NEW CASINO.

THE NEW CASINO.

Work has been pushed rapidly forward of late on the new Casino, at Broadway and Thirty-nintie-st, and it is expected that the structure will be completed early in April. The new Casino will differ in many respects from other places of animement in this city. It will be adapted for animements which may take place in both winter and similar. Daring warm weather the entire structure will be cooled by a systell of air pumps, and light performs ances are to be given—comedical or operetris—in conjunction with the regular promenade concerts, which will take place on the roof garden, sixty-five feet from the ground tevel. In winter the Casino will be used for theating performances, concerts, balls, etc., and the whole upper part is to be infeet from the ground tevel. In winter the Casino will be used for theatrical performances, concerts, balls, etc, and the whole upper part is to be inclosed with stained gloss and converted into a winter garden. May rare exotics will be constantly exhibited. The garden is to be accessible on all organisms. Two months in winter are to be set aside for private entertainments. A restaurant is to be attached to the building. Every precaution is to be taken against fire. There is to be no gallery in the theatre, and only one balrony, with a separate exit on Broadway. All the stairways are to be of cither iron or stone. The exterior will be Moorish in general style of architecture. The theatre will be smallar to the one attached to the Newport Casino.

THE NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY.
Charics A. Pratt, secretary of the United Globe Electric Light Company, was seen yesterday by a Tribut. Exporter. After telling how he became secretary of the company Mr. Pratt said: "I am not a par ner in the firm of Austin, Nichols & Co., as was stated. I am, however, a salesman for them and have been with them for some time. I became connected with the United Globe Electric Light Company about three mouths ago, believing them, as I do now, that the company is a legitimate one. No money has been called for as yet, and the organization is not entirely completed. Mr. Gray is the organizar of the company."

Mr. Austin, the senior member of the firm of Austin, Nichols & Co., was also seen. He spoke highly of Mr. Pratt, who, he said, had been in the firm's employ for some time. He did not think for a moment that Mr. Pratt would connect hunself with anything that was not perfectly legitimate; and if the company was not an that it was represented to be he believed that Mr. Pratt had been deceived.

The president of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company said that a gentleman had been introduced to him by a responsible person, and had asked that the Trust Com, any act as registers of the transiers of stocz. As that was part of its business his company consented to do so. No stock had been presented for registration, and that was all he knew about the United Globe Electric Light Company.

OBSTRUCTIONS ON THE PIERS.

The only important testimony given before the committee investigating the affairs of the Dock Department yester-tay was that of Commissioner Vanderpoel. He testified that, in his opinion, the income from the property leased by the Department ought to be twice or three times as large as it is now. The Commissioner also stated, in answer to some questions from the chairman of the committee, that it was known to the Board of Dock Commissioners, and had been for some time, that the public landings and buildings of private persons and corporations. Notices, he said, had been sent to such persons or firms, but no step had been taken by the Counsel for the Corporation to ous the obstructors, and he, the counsel, had said the penalty could not be enforced; so the Board was helpless, and the persons ordered off simply laughed at them. The chairman of the committee stated that communications had been sent to the Martime Exchange, the Cotton Exchange and various other exchanges, asking them to suggest any measure which they thought would be for the benefit of the trade represented by their guild, but so far no answer had been received.

The committee will have a final meeting on Saturday next at noon.

Mayor Howell yesterday afternoon approved the resolution of the Board of Aldermen givi g a franchise to the East River Bridge and Comey Island Steam framsit Company—or "Univer's road." He has also filed a veto of the resolutions granting to the "Bruff" or Brooklyn Elevated Railway Company the right to construct, maintain and operate elevated railways in Fulton-st., Myrtie-ave, and other thoroughfares. The failure to provide compensation for the city and private owners is the supposed ground for the veto.

THE COURTS.

EXECUTORS BROUGHT TO COURT.

An application was made to Surrogate Calrin a few days ago by James Wallace, the contestant in the Thomas P. Wallace will case, for the contestant in the Thomas P. Wallace will case, for the removal of the executors, John F. Wallace and Joseph O. May, and for an order directing the executors to deposit with a trust company to the credit of the estate all moneys and securities in their possession. The argument on the application was heard yesterday. James Wellace in his petition alleged that the testator, at the time of his death, owned a five-twelfths interest in the partnership ucath, owned a nve-twelfins interest in the partnership projectly of Flannizan & Wallace, which the executors, by the authority of the Surrogate, had recently sold to Mr. Flannizan for $265,000. The executors received in payment a check for $100,000, and certain bonds and payment a cheek for Stongerd, and certain mortgages. Mr. Wallace declared that he is informed and believes, that the executor John F. Wallace had delivered the cheek to the attorney for the executors. John Hayes, instead of depositing it to the joint credit of the executors, and that the executors have distributed contrary to law the securities received from Mr. Flan-nigan and other property of the estate amounting to about $200,000 among the sisters of the testator and about $200,000 among the sisters of the testator and other persons entitled under the will.

It is also alleged that Mr. Hayes asserted that he had a lien on the cheek for $30,000 for legal services rendered to the estate, although he had already received for legal services, all of which had been rendered within a year, $22,000. H. W. Bookstaver appeared for Mr. Wallace and arrued in support of the application. P. P. Van Derveer appeared for the executors and read several affidavits in opposition to the motion. It was set forth in the affidavits that the executors had been effered by Mr. Flannian $200,000 for the testator's invice of Mr. Hayes had refused this offer and began a suit for a division of the partnership property. They agreed to give Mr. Hayes one half of all they should recover in excess of $200,000, the amount offered by Mr. Flanni-gan. After this suit was begun Mr. Flannigan offered the executors $265,000 for their interest in the firm, which they accepted. John F. Wallace had received the check for $100,000 referred to at an hour in the day wheek for $100,000 felerica to at an nour in the day when it was too late to deposit it in his own bank. He gave the clock to Mr. Hayes to deposit it in the latter's benk. Mr. Hayes afterward returned the check to him. He had drawn the money on it and paid Mr. Hayes about $30,000, the amount a reced upon for his legal services. It is denied that there has been any distribu-tion of the estate among the beneficiaries under the will.

tion of the estate among the beneficiaries under the will.
Surregate Calvin ordered the executors to deposit all moneys and securities belonging to the estate to the credit of the estate. He said that it was his opinion that a reference should be ordered to ascertain whether there had been good faith in paying the $30,000 to Mr. Hayes, especially as it did not appear that one of the executors had joined in the contract under which the money was paid. The validity of the payment depended simply upon the question of good faith. Mr. Van Derveer objected to a reference, on the ground that, no question of good faith having been raised by the other side, the Surrogate had no authority to make it a subject of investigation. Surrogate clavin reserved his opinion upon the question of his authority to order a reference.

ACTION AGAINST A MINING COMPANY.

Argument was heard yesterday in the United ales Circuit Court before Judge Blatchford in the suit brought by George Bell, a stockholder of the Mariposa Land and Mining Company, against Joseph A. Douahue Eurene Kelly, Mark Bremagin and the Mariposa Land and Mining Companies of New-York and California. The action was brought to have set aside and declared null and void a transfer of 75,000 shares of the stock of the and void a transfer of 75,000 shares of the slock of the companies made in 1872 by Mark Bremagin and John W. Bremagin to Eugene Kelly and Joseph A. Denahue, and to have declared null and void a release given by the Martyness Company to Kelly and Doughne of a claim of $240,000, being the proceeds of 20,000 shares of stock. An accounting and a temporary injunction to prevent the disposition of any of the assets are asked for. Decision was reserved.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SANITY.

Rufus T. Andrews as attorney for Daniel D. hamberlain, began yesterday a new pr ceeding under Chambersain, began yesteraay a new preeding under the net of 1874, for the purpose of calling up for review by the Supreme Court the decree of the Purnam Counity Court, by which Mr. Chamberlain is adjudged to be in-sane.
